Community members explore topics of interest and share their input with the City. Community interests, ideas, questions and concerns help to inform City actions moving forward.

First session: June 30, 2019
Community members share their ideas and input directly with the developer, Universal Paragon Corporation (UPC).

UPC and its consultants study key issues such as soils, traffic, water use, etc., ahead of additional planning efforts.

City and public review UPC's plan to address site remediation
Must be approved by:
- Regional Water Control Board
- Department of Toxic Substances Control

City and public review UPC's plans for closure of the landfill and necessary clean-up efforts
Must be approved by:
- Regional Water Control Board
- San Mateo County Health System

UPC submits a draft Specific Plan (SP), Development Agreement (DA) to the City. These documents outline developer responsibilities and plans for the future of the Baylands.

City prepares a draft Environmental Impact Report (EIR); community comments on draft EIR, Specific Plan and Development Agreement

Planning Commission Hearings
The Planning Commission reviews the Specific Plan and Development Agreement, sending their recommendations to the City Council. Community members share additional feedback before the Planning Commission.

City Council holds public hearings on the final EIR, Specific Plan and Development Agreement. Council can approve, deny or recommend revisions to the final plans.
* Expected that final City Council actions will be taken 24 months after the draft Specific Plan and Development Agreement are submitted by the developer.
