Living in Brisbane for the past thirty years has brought me great joy and appreciation for our wonderful little town. I have been blessed to have helped raise our children in a safe and open community, run a business, and give back to our city through volunteering and serving on the Brisbane City Council.

Together, we have led efforts to improve our environment, provide support for our seniors, strengthen the relationship between the City and our schools, reduce airplane noise, build a new library, demand that the Baylands development is safe and sustainable. Our City is an amazing place to live because we get involved and make things happen. Your collective energy motivates me to work hard on your behalf to find the best practices that retain the living standards we value, while building for a better future.

The pandemic and Black Lives Matter movement has demonstrated that all communities are better off when people come together to help their fellow neighbor, show compassion for the plight of others and put forth policies that are fair and equitable. Helping to form the Brisbane COVID Response Coalition, and then seeing volunteers go to work to assist those in need, made me so proud of our citizens. To see the posters and the flag raising for Black Lives Matter highlighted the commitment of our local government to view City policies through the lens of social justice and equity.

Besides my work in Brisbane, I've been our voice in the County for improving public transportation, affordable housing, closing the internet divide, reducing greenhouse gas emissions.

If reelected, I will continue to:

Apply policies that keep us safe and connected during the pandemic

Work with our citizens to create a Baylands that improves our existing community

Demand that the contamination in the Baylands is properly remediated

Create educational opportunities for our children

Focus on measures that keep the City financially sound

Dedicate more land to open space and improve our environment

Push for greater equity in all City decisions

Although we live in trying times, we also live in a time of great opportunity. Our strength is in our ability to rally around one another and put forth decisions that strive for the greater good.

I would be honored to have your continued support as your public servant on the Brisbane City Council. clifflordlentz@gmail.com
