Where's Me Lucky Pot O'Gold??

Here we go, slipping into March with a little bit of cooler weather again, right after enjoying some unseasonably warm temperatures in the last week of February. Okay, who else was hoping it would last longer?? I know I sure was, especially when it was nice enough to wear some shorts again. However, I may have scared a few people with my white legs (whoops...sorry)! Oh well, after a good laugh, there's still the unwavering desire for warmer weather to be here yet again.

But for now, as I sit here in a jacket looking out over the marina, it begs the question...did you get a chance to work on any of those projects aboard your boat? For me, I ended up getting an opportunity to work on a few of my own aboard Against the Wind. It was nice, enjoying one of the warmer days, working on some 12V wiring and L.E.D. deck lighting. Now when I go to BBQ on my back deck in the evening, I can actually see what I'm cooking without holding a flashlight in between my teeth (what a novel concept)! So slowly but surely, projects are being checked off one by one, equating being closer to spending some quality and relaxing time on the water!

However, as reality rears us back in from day dreaming about being out playing on the boat, we do have some positive news regarding COVID. Recently, San Mateo County advanced to the Red tier, moving out of the more restrictive Purple tier, which allows certain businesses and activities to open back up. For additional information on what is reopening, and to what capacity, please visit the following: <https://cmo.smcgov.org/press-release/feb-23-2021-confronting-covid-state-loosens-restrictions-san-mateo-county> But, we're not out of the woods yet; please continue being diligent about social distancing, wearing your face masks and washing your hands.

Swaying towards the nuts and bolts of marina biz:

- ◆ Dock appeal in the marina, is the same as curb appeal in a neighborhood. Please help us keep our docks looking their best with keeping your boat & slip clean and clear of unnecessary items. Additionally, no items are to be stored on the docks or fingers.
- ◆ Hoses degrade in the sun and environment. If you are replacing your hose, please do not put the old one in the garbage cans at the head of the dock. Please place it outside the bins for easy pick-up, or take it to one of the conveniently located dumpsters at the head of dock 1, or in the middle parking lot.
- ◆ Dock carts are a limited commodity at each dock. Please be considerate of others needing one, by taking the cart back to the head of the dock once you have finished taking things to/from your boat.

Last but not least - Thank you to those who have submitted pictures for our newsletter. If you haven't had a chance to submit one, or two, of your favorite boating, sunset/sunrise or nature pictures, you can still email them to: harbormaster@brisbaneca.org. We will be featuring a new picture each month on our upcoming newsletters for everyone to enjoy.

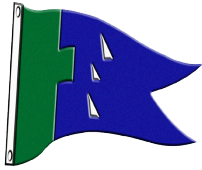

Until our courses cross paths again, may the winds be fair, and the seas following. Keep calm and boat on my friends!
