In the event that there is no quorum, any discussions which are held by those assembled shall be regarded as informal and non-binding.

Subcommittees

Subcommittees may be formed, as needed, in relation to work of the Open Space and Ecology Committee.

Responsibilities

The primary responsibility of the Open Space and Ecology Committee is to make recommendations to the City Council on the implementation of relevant programs and policies of the Open Space and Conservation Elements as well as the environment and natural resources policies of the Local Economic Development chapter of the General Plan. That responsibility includes preparing drafts of the relevant, regular reports called for in the General Plan, such as the annual report on the status of open space. The responsibility of the Open Space and Ecology Committee does not include review and comment on applications submitted to the City under Titles 16 and 17 of the Brisbane Municipal Code unless specifically requested by the City Council.

The function of the Open Space and Ecology Committee shall encompass consideration of the following areas of responsibility.

1. Open space planning, maintenance and monitoring.
2. Ecological issues that affect the natural environment in Brisbane as guided by the principles of ecological sustainability.
3. City practices and programs related to natural resource conservation.

Some examples of specific issues and topics that the Open Space and Ecology Committee may address include:

1. Water and energy conservation.
2. Annual open space report.
3. Annual evaluation of the HCP.
4. Public information and education on ecological issues.
5. Recycling/solid waste reduction issues.
6. Wetlands preservation and enhancement issues.
7. Preservation and enhancement of the Brisbane Lagoon pursuant to goals and objectives adopted by the City Council.
8. Issues related to pollution, toxic waste and contamination.

In order for the Open Space and Ecology Committee to work expeditiously, its members should receive appropriate education in the tasks before them, pay close attention to timelines and priorities, meet as often as required, keep track of ideas not directly on agenda items for future reference, recognize that open space and ecological issues are necessarily holistic and connected, and pick a chair who will provide leadership consistent with these principles.

Staff support

The City Manager or his or her designee shall serve as the staff advisor to the Open Space and Ecology Committee and shall give notice of meetings, keep and maintain records of Committee meetings and recommendations, and generally provide such support and assistance as the Committee may require in order to perform its responsibilities.
